Fought and Separated.

Magistrate Chappell yesterday morning gave Wash Carwile, a negro, $3 or ten days for fighting his wife. Deciding they could no longer agree to live together in peace and harmony Wash and his wife agreed in court to go their separate ways.

Order of the Eastern Star.

A local chapter of the order of the Eastern Star will be instituted at the Masonic hall in this city Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Membership in this order consists of the wives, widows, sisters and daughters of Masons, together with the Masons themselves, and it is designed to give these in some measure the benefits of the Masonic order.

Miss Werts Elected Teacher.

The following is from a correspondent in the Abbeville Press and Banner of the 6th:

Miss Florence Werts, of Newberry, was elected teacher of the Long Cane school last Friday. Miss Werts is one of Newberry's fairest and most intelligent young ladies. She graduated at the Graded School in 1899 and at Limestone last June.

To the Patron of Opera House.

The management take pleasure in announcing that they have at large expense secured the Boston Ideal Opera Co. to sing the beautiful comic opera "Said Pasha" on Monday night, October 13th.

As we had to guarantee this attraction we hope the theatre going public will give us their patronage.

Read press notices in other columns of this paper.

Yours for a good attraction,
Earhardt, Pifer and Eberhardt, Managers.

Methodist Conference to Meet Here.

It is not long now until the Methodists will be with us in their annual conference. Newberry will give them a right royal welcome. It has been nearly a quarter of a century since we had the conference with us, and during that time there have been many changes in our conference and in the citizenship of Newberry. The sessions were held in the Baptist church, that being the largest auditorium at that time in the city. Now the old Methodist church has been supplanted by a new modern brick structure, and the old wooden building has been torn down. We shall be glad to see our Methodist brethren and make them feel at home among us.

Newberry Division Annual Benefit Association.

The Newberry Division of the Mutual Insurance Association is being organized with the following officers: B. C. Matthews president, W. G. Houscal, secretary and treasurer. The list of the Township Directors has not been completed. This undertaking is meeting with much favor at the hands of our people and policies on the lives of many of our best business men have already been written. The plan of the association is unique. It seems that every weak point in ordinary assessment insurance has been successfully met. It gives security at the least possible cost and all the money is kept at home.

The gentlemen at the head of the undertaking are among our best known and most respectable citizens. As soon as 1,200 names are secured the policies will be issued. This management hopes to accomplish in a short time.

Enrolling Confederate Veterans.

To the People of Newberry County: We are trying to get a complete roll of those who were in the Confederate Army, Navy or State Reserves during the war between the States. We want this enrollment by townships. I have appointed a committee of three from each township to get up the enrollment. This is to be a labor of love. I want every citizen to appoint himself a committee of one to assist the township committees and see that no soldier, sailor, member of the Reserves, boy company or Citadel cadet who entered the service is left out of the roll.

To the township committees I would say, please go to the Clerk of Court's office and get the enrollment books and let's try to complete the work by the first day of January, 1903. I would ask the committee also to ask each member of the James D. Nance Camp of Veterans to pay to them their annual dues, so they can be turned over to the adjutant by the 1st of January, 1903.

The annual dues are 25 cents for each member.
W. G. Peterson,
Chairman Enrollment Committee.

Brain-Food Nonpareil.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get this reliable remedy at W. E. Pelham & Son.

ANOTHER LANDMARK GONE.

The Old Methodist Church has Fulfilled Its Mission and is a Thing of the Past.

The remarkable material progress of Newberry during the past decade should be a source of just pride and pleasure to each and every one of her citizens. Growth has not been rapid, but it has been steady and sure.

But it is with a pleasure not unmixed with something of sadness that our oldest inhabitants view the passing of the old and the incoming of the new. The old landmarks in succession are passing away. The Newberry of former days is gradually fading from view, and a new city, with broadened horizon, and new and modern ideas, is taking her position in the vanguard of progress.

The old Central Methodist church has now disappeared. Erected in 1833, for more than three-quarters of a century it had been the scene of the labors and difficulties, the struggles and the triumphs, of the Methodists in Newberry. Around it clustered their most sacred memories, in it were centered their dearest hopes. But it had fulfilled its mission and gave way at the command of the stern law of change.

A new and beautiful and modern structure, the pride of Newberry and of Methodism in South Carolina, has taken its place. The image of the old is enshrined in the memories of those who worshipped within its walls; the new bears witness to their labors crowned with success.

Tunes and His Band.

Musicians with leading American bands must be not alone proficient in playing instruments—they must be thoroughly schooled musicians, able, on a pinch, to write a two-step march or score a symphony. Having passed muster as competent artists, their unions fix a price, below which they cannot play. This is approximately $6.00 to $7.00 a day, varying in different places, but as the amount of good material is scarcely adequate to the demand, the union rule is scarcely needed to protect them. Those of marked ability, practically fix their own rate of wages. Instrumental soloists with such a band as Innes', are paid high as $150 a week.

Innes and his Band are among the attractions booked to appear here.

Don't

Imagine that all flours are alike. There is a difference; a big difference. So much depends upon having pure, white and nutritious flour that the subject is worthy your careful investigation and consideration.

You will be better satisfied in selecting "Clifton" flour, a fact that any one who knows anything about flour will tell you. In purity, whiteness and quality, "Clifton" flour excels all other flour.

Don't imagine that because "Clifton" is a high grade flour that the price is high, because the price is low; in reach of all housekeepers. Cheap flour is dear at any price, while "Clifton" is the least expensive and is the very best you can buy.

Our farmers seem to have a little tinge of disappointment in the cotton crop. The general opinion, however, is that it is as good as last year. The crop is about all harvested. But the country is all solid on corn and peas.

Mr. K. Baker, of Greenwood, spent a few days here during the week.

BACHMAN CHAPEL LETTER.

All the News Around Bachman Chapel and Union Academy Interestingly Told by T. J. W.

There was no preaching at Colony and Mr. Mid Griffin's last Sunday, we suppose on account of the rain.

Professor D. A. Quattlebaum resumed his school at Delmar, Saluda County, last Monday.

There will be communion services at St. Philip's next Sunday.

No preaching at Bachman Chapel next Sunday evening. It was put off until the third Sunday when there will be communion.

Miss Olive Feagle left last Saturday for Williams', No. 7, and reopened her school on Monday morning.

When I sit down to write, I always feel that I would like to tell the people something of interest. But I feel very dull and grumpy tonight, and when I undertake to write while in this fix it is a perfect burden to me, and I fear what I say is not worth very much. But the editor says he must have news, and it has come our time to write, so let it roll for what it's worth.

When our editor was nominated as one of our members of the general assembly we predicted that he would become a shining light, not only in the halls of the legislature, but to the whole State at large. Why we say this is because there is nothing lacking about his ability. He has a first class college education, besides is backed up with all the practical ability and experience that go to make a smart man. But notwithstanding all this, we fear that he has got hold of the wrong end of the singletree when he advocates a compulsory educational law for South Carolina. It is true that there are other States that have a compulsory educational law, but we must bear in mind that what may prove good for one people may prove detrimental to another. Those States that have an educational law are Northern States, and the principal part of their poor people are laborers in manufacturing departments, and no doubt their educational interests are being neglected, consequently it is necessary for legislation in this respect.

But it is not the case down South. The principal part of our poor people down here are engaged in an agricultural line. It is true that the cotton mills are coming South, and possibly about five per cent. of our poor people are cotton mill operatives, but we should feel thankful that their educational interests are being cared for. At our Newberry cotton mill Mr. T. J. McCrary is doing everything possible to meet this emergency. They are running a first class school there now day and night. What more do you want? Too much of a thing sometimes is worse than not enough. But in the face of all this, the editor says that South Carolina needs such a law, and it should come as soon as possible, and no one who loves his State will dispute the fact that every white child within the bounds of the State should receive a common school education. This we admit. But we must admit that we are already advancing along this line more rapidly than any generation within the history of time. There has been the greatest stride for the past twenty years in this direction that history can produce. The question may arise, how are we to get longer terms of school

BOSTON IDEAL OPERA CO.

A Musical Treat at the Opera House on Next Monday Night—"Said Pasha" the Play.

On Monday night, October 13, the original Boston Ideal Opera Company of 35 noted artists will present the comic opera success, "Said Pasha," at the Opera House. This splendid organization requires no introduction as their name is a household word in every State in this union. Besides an all star cast of principals, the large and handsome chorus of pretty girls and the grand orchestra are great features. The management of the Opera House have guaranteed this attraction and have arranged with them that the highest price seats will be only 75 cents, which will be the first time in the history of the Boston Ideals that they have played a one night engagement at less than $1.00.

Few other operatic organizations have ever had the success that has been attained by the Boston Ideals. This company was organized six years ago, since which time it has appeared in nearly every city of over ten thousand inhabitants on this continent, establishing an enviable reputation everywhere. The success of the Boston Ideal Opera Company is due to the fact that it is an American organization, the principals being selected from our very best American artists. The members of the chorus are handsome, and possess excellent voices, which have had the best training possible to obtain. The operas are produced under the efficient leadership of experienced directors, and the business management is under the careful guidance of well known and reputable business men. This, with the extensive repertoire of grand and standard operas, sung in English, magnificently costumed, and the prices within the reach of the masses, justifies the assertion that the Boston Ideal Opera Company is the most successful English Opera Company on tour in America; and it is with pride and pleasure that the management present it to the public. Seats are now on sale at Mayes' Book Store.

without more money? So you see the people are already overburdened with taxation, and if there is a continuation of putting on instead of taking off they will rise in rebellion against it. We already have a good school system and there is no use of monopolizing it simply because everything else is going into monopolies. I don't intend to put any special stress upon education. But the people, or at least a part of them, are going frantic in this direction. As I have said once before, there are at least three-fifths of the white parents doing everything available to school their children, in fact there are hundreds of them making sacrifice, and what more can they do? What's the use to put the lash on a horse and try to make him pull that which is beyond his power? Then what's the use to appropriate money to run a nine months school when we poor people can't hardly spare our children to go six months out of the year? The fact of the business is, good people, education don't make a man, and we think that Josh Ashley has proved this to be true. Mr. Editor, there is no use of bringing up that poor illiterate girl in the up country for argument. That is an isolated case. We don't suppose that you could find another out of five thousand. Then must we put a punishment upon a whole people to reach one out of ten thousand? Any parents who neglect the moral training of their children in that respect are not worthy to live.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rauch, of Lexington, visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilson, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. J. D. Quattlebaum has bought the Bachman Chapel school house and will convert it into a dwelling.

Mr. M. C. Moore has moved from Newberry back into the country. He occupies the J. H. Kibler residence.

The county board of supervisors of registration had quite a busy day last Monday, as that was the last day for opening the books before the general election. If there are any who are entitled to a certificate who have not registered it is their own fault. T. J. W. October 9, 1902.
